5 SECTION 2. Title 21 of the General Laws entitled "FOOD AND DRUGS" is hereby 6 amended by adding thereto the following chapter:

7 CHAPTER 34.1

8 RHODE ISLAND FOOD DONATION ACT

9 21-34.1-1. Short title.

10 This chapter shall be known, and may be cited as "The Rhode Island Food Donation
11 Act."

12 21-34.1-2. Definitions.

13 For the purposes of this section:

14 (1) "Director" means director of department of health.

15 (2) "Enforcement officers" means authorized agents of the director responsible for 16 inspecting food, food establishments, dairies or foodborne disease outbreaks.

17 (3) "Food bank" means a surplus food collection and distribution system operated and 18 established to assist in bringing donated food to nonprofit charitable organizations and 19 individuals for the purposes of reducing hunger and supplying nutritional needs.

20 (4) "Food facility" means a food establishment that sells food for human consumption to 21 the general public.

22 (5) "Gleaner" means a person who harvests for free distribution to the needy, or for 23 donation to a nonprofit organization for ultimate distribution to the needy, an agricultural crop
24 that has been donated by the owner.

25 (6) "Person" means an individual, school, local educational agency, corporation,
26 partnership, limited liability company, organization, association, or governmental entity,
27 including a retail grocer, wholesaler, hotel, motel, manufacturer, restaurant, caterer, farmer, and 28 nonprofit food distributor or hospital. In the case of a corporation, partnership, organization, 29 association, or governmental entity, the term includes an officer, director, partner, manager or 30 managing member, deacon, trustee, council member, or other elected or appointed individual
31 responsible for the governance of the entity.

32 21-34.1-3. Immunity from liability for food donors.

33 (a) A person, gleaner, or food facility may donate food to a food bank or to any other
34 nonprofit charitable organization for distribution to persons free of charge. Food facilities may

1 donate food directly to end recipients for consumption.

2 (b) Except for injury resulting from gross negligence or intentional misconduct in the 3 preparation or handling of donated food, no person, gleaner, or food facility that donates food that
4 is fit for human consumption at the time it was donated to a nonprofit charitable organization or
5 food bank shall be liable for any damage or injury resulting from the consumption of the donated
6 food. Food facilities may donate food directly to end recipients for consumption.

7 (c) The immunity from civil liability provided by this chapter applies regardless of 8 compliance with any laws, regulations, or ordinances regulating the packaging or labeling of 9 food, and regardless of compliance with any laws, regulations, or ordinances regulating the 10 storage or handling of the food by the donee after the donation of the food. The donation of 11 nonperishable food that is fit for human consumption but that has exceeded the labeled shelf life
12 date recommended by the manufacturer is protected under the Rhode Island food donation act.
13 The donation of perishable food that is fit for human consumption but that has exceeded the
14 labeled shelf life date recommended by the manufacturer is protected under the Rhode Island
15 food donation act if the person that distributes the food to the end recipient makes a good faith
16 evaluation that the food to be donated is wholesome.

17 (d) A nonprofit charitable organization or a food bank that, in good faith, receives and 18 distributes food without charge that is fit for human consumption at the time it was distributed is 19 not liable for an injury or death due to the food unless the injury or death is a direct result of the 20 gross negligence or intentional misconduct of the organization.

21 (e) Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to limit the ability of a person, gleaner, or 22 food facility to donate food.

23 (f) A person or gleaner engaged in the business of processing, distributing, or selling an 24 agricultural product may donate, free of charge, a product that is in a condition that it may be
25 used as food for human consumption to a nonprofit charitable organization within the state. Food
26 facilities may donate food directly to end recipients for consumption. The donation of
27 nonperishable food that is fit for human consumption, but that has exceeded the labeled shelf life
28 date recommended by the manufacturer is protected under the Rhode Island food donation act.
29 The donation of perishable food that is fit for human consumption, but that has exceeded the
30 labeled shelf life date recommended by the manufacturer is protected under the Rhode Island
31 food donation act if the person that distributes the food to the end recipient makes a good faith
32 evaluation that the food to be donated is wholesome.

33 (g) To assist in accomplishing the purposes of this chapter, the director may redistribute
34 donated agricultural products to organizations operating pursuant to this chapter.

1 21-34.1-4. Expiration dates.

2 A person, gleaner, or food facility that donates food as permitted by law shall not be
3 subject to civil or criminal liability or penalty for violation of any laws, regulations, or ordinances
4 regulating the labeling or packaging of the donated product or, with respect to any other laws,
5 regulations, or ordinances, for a violation occurring after the time of the donation. The donation
6 of nonperishable food that is fit for human consumption but that has exceeded the labeled shelf
7 life date recommended by the manufacturer is protected under the Rhode Island food donation
8 act. The donation of perishable food that is fit for human consumption but that has exceeded the
9 labeled shelf life date recommended by the manufacturer is protected under the Rhode Island
10 food donation act if the person that distributes the food to the end recipient makes a good faith
11 evaluation that the food to be donated is wholesome.

12 21-34.1-5. Public education.

13 In implementing this chapter, enforcement officers shall promote the recovery of food fit
14 for human consumption during their normal, routine inspections. Promotion shall include, but not 15 be limited to, newsletters, bulletins, and handouts that inform retail food facility operators about 16 the protections from civil and criminal liability when donating food.

17 21-34.1-6. Implementing rules and regulations.

18 The director shall adopt rules and regulations to implement the provisions of this chapter.

19 SECTION 3. This act shall take effect upon passage.
