21 of income tax refunds for past due child support in accordance with sections 44-30.1-5 and 40-6-
22 21. The holding of real estate as tenants by the entirety shall not in and of itself preclude the 23 family court from partitioning real estate so held for a period of six (6) months after the entry of 24 final decree of divorce.

25 Consistent with established comity law, regardless of the sex of the parties or whether the 26 parties would have been eligible to marry in Rhode Island, the parties to any marriage, celebrated
27 in any state of the United States, possession of the United States, or in any foreign country may 28 petition for a divorce proceeding in this state so long as the parties meet the jurisdictional
29 requirements of section 15-5-12.

30 (b) The family court shall be a court of record and shall have a seal which shall contain 31 such words and devices as the court shall adopt.

32 (c) The judges and clerk of the family court shall have power to administer oaths and 33 affirmations.

34 (d) The family court shall have exclusive initial jurisdiction of all appeals from any

1 administrative agency or board affecting or concerning children under the age of eighteen (18)
2 years and appeals of administrative decisions concerning setoff of income tax refunds, lottery set
3 offs, insurance intercept, and lien enforcement provisions for past due child support, in 4 accordance with sections 44-30.1-5 and 40-6-21, and appeals of administrative agency orders of 5 the department of human services to withhold income under chapter 16 of title 15.

6 (e) The family court shall have jurisdiction over those civil matters relating to the 7 enforcement of laws regulating child care providers and child placing agencies.

8 (f) The family court shall have exclusive jurisdiction of matters relating to the revocation
9 or nonrenewal of a license of an obligor due to noncompliance with a court order of support, in 10 accordance with chapter 11.1 of title 15.

11 [See section 12-1-15 of the General Laws.]

12 (g) Notwithstanding any general or public law to the contrary, the family court shall have 13 jurisdiction over all protective orders provided pursuant to the Rhode Island general laws, when 14 either party is a juvenile.

15 SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon passage and apply to any marriage or civil 16 union whether entered into before or after the effective date of this act.
